DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 27, 31-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nigel Lord in view of Matsushige, U. S. Patent No. 5487067.

Regarding claim 27, 31, 33 and 36, Lord discloses Master of Pop Reclaim Fon Memory (Pro Sound News). Lord discloses two identical pre-production studios, with identical mixing desks and ADTS and audio workstations (claim 33), which indicates a plurality of audio spaces comprising acoustically identical enclosures. However, Lord fails to disclose the enclosures being electrically connected as claimed.

Regarding the enclosures being electrically connected, in a similar field of endeavor, Matsushige discloses audio data communications among audio mixers in multiple production studios, wherein the communication link (claim 31) is conducted by a ring network (col. 25, lines 19-45 and figures 16-17).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of Lord by implementing a electrical communication link between the studios for the purpose enhancing the communication capability between the audio devices during audio production.

However, Lord and Matsushighe fails to disclose the enclosures enabling and identical audio signal to be transmitted across connecting audio spaces simultaneously. Providing an identical audio signal across connecting audio spaces was well known in the art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the disclosure of Lord by implementing the technique of playing or broadcast the same audio signal over a plurality of audio spaces for the purpose of enable the listeners of the audio listening area to hear the same audio signal.

Regarding claim 32, Lord and Matsushighe discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 31). Lord and Matsushighe (Matsushighe) discloses the link as a ring network, which constitute as a wide area matrix network, and Matsushighe also discloses the data transfer via the Ethernet.

Regarding claim 35, Lord and Matsushighe discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 27). Lord and Matsushighe (Matsushighe) discloses that devices in one studio may be operable for another studio (col. 25, lines 41-45).

Regarding claims 37-38, Lord and Matsushighe discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 36). Lord and Matsushighe fails to discloses synchronizing the events in one audio space with another. Synchronzing audio events with other events, such as video was well known in the art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of Lord and Matsushighe by implementing synchronization the audio events with other events such as video for the purpose of enabling synchronized real-time editing and control of both the audio and video effects.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 3/27/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant argues the prior art of record fails to disclose the claimed invention in respect to the identical acoustical enclosures with identical acoustical equipment for a listener to receive a reproduced sound, indicating that the prior art fails to provide audio amplifiers, speaker systems, acoustical treatments, space geometry, furnishings, etc. The preceding arguments provided by the applicant consist of some explicit elements and/or components which have not been claimed or disclosed in the applicant's drawings. The applicant drawings are directed more towards a drawing of rooms, and drawings disclosing network equipment/connections, mixers/console, etc. No audio amplifiers, speakers or furniture is disclosed. In respect to acoustical treatments, any enclosed room, particularly a production studio is considered to have acoustical treatments. And, a listener in these rooms can be the sound engineers using the equipment. The claims have been considered in respect to the broadest interpretation of the claim language. Thus, the art rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
